

June 12, 2026

Department of Architecture, IUST Inaugurates Lecture Series 2026

Awantipora, June 12: The Department of Architecture, Islamic University of Science and Technology (IUST), inaugurated its Online Lecture Series 2026 with a lecture by renowned architect Shirish Beri. The initiative builds upon the successful online lecture series organized by the department in 2025, which featured distinguished architects, designers, and academicians from across India and abroad.

The Lecture Series 2026 aims to provide students and faculty with opportunities to engage with leading professionals and thinkers, fostering dialogue on contemporary issues in architecture, planning, design, sustainability, and the built environment.

The opening lecture by Architect Shirish Beri focused on his architectural journey, design philosophy, and the relationship between architecture, nature, and human experience. Widely recognized for his environmentally conscious and human-centered approach to design, he shared valuable insights drawn from his extensive professional and personal experiences.

The lecture was attended by faculty members, and students of the department, who actively participated in the interactive session that followed.

The Department of Architecture expressed its gratitude to Architect Shirish Beri for delivering the inaugural lecture and stated that several more lectures by eminent architects, planners, designers, and academicians will be organized throughout the year as part of the Lecture Series 2026.

Issued by PR&MC, IUST